PRACTICE AREAS

Litigation

Jessica Corpuz represents clients in all aspects of litigation, including in particular the handling of complex business and commercial disputes. She has successfully represented clients in trial, mediation, arbitration, and appeal, including millions of dollars in jury verdicts as well as published reversals of adverse trial court rulings on appeal.

Over the course of her career, Jessica has litigated cases in the fields of entertainment, international law, private equity and corporate transactions, real estate, and environmental law, among others. She handles cases on behalf of both plaintiffs and defendants and has represented clients in cases before both federal and state courts, in California and across the country.

Some of Jessica's representative matters include:

- Licensing disputes, including entertainment and manufacturing licenses;
- Private equity acquisitions, including issues in connection with the acquisition of portfolio companies;
- State and local government regulatory issues, including land use ordinances and hazardous waste disposal regulations;
- Alter ego issues and fraudulent conveyance of corporate assets for personal use, including obtaining a $21 million verdict;
- Public records act litigation;
- False claims act litigation, including a published California Court of Appeal opinion reversing the trial court's ruling; and
- Judgment collection, including the recovery of international assets frozen under federal law.

She was selected to the Super Lawyers Rising Stars list from 2014-2019.

She is also an active member of the Los Angeles County Bar Association, the Los Angeles County Museum of Art (LACMA) and the Los Angeles Conservancy.

Jessica earned her B.A. in History from the University of California, Santa Barbara and received her J.D. from Loyola Law School, where she was the President of the International Law Society and participated in the Philip C. Jessup International Law Moot Court Competition.
